Publication Notice.

(First published Dec. 25.)
Allie M. Hackett, plaintiff, vs.
Mary E. Gentry, Richard D. Gentry, J. B. Chamberlain, defendants.
To Mary E. Gentry, Richard D. Gentry, J. B. Chamberlain: You are hereby notified that you have been cited to appear in the District Court of Allen county, Kansas, on the 14th day of January, 1901, at 10 o'clock a. m., to answer the petition filed in said court by the plaintiff, and to show cause why the same should not be granted. The purpose of said petition is to obtain a judgment against the defendants for $250.00, with 10 per cent interest from January 26, 1900, and a decree foreclosing a mortgage given by said Mary E. Gentry on lots 4 and 5 in block 10, and lots 7 and 8 in block 94, all in the city of Humboldt, Allen county, Kansas, and to bar all the right, title and equity therein of defendants. Attest: M. P. Jacoby, clerk.

We stand ready to convince the most skeptical that we handle the most reliable line of shoe leather in Allen county. Northrup Bros.

One of our county correspondents sends us some English violets, plucked from an unprotected garden last Sunday. Sunny, sunny Kansas!

A surprise party at Mrs. Briggs' on Tuesday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. George Lawyer, was one of the pleasant social events of the week.

Prof. Whitehill, Prof. Wishard, Miss Anna Pickell and Miss Ella Cowan went to Topeka Monday to attend the State Teachers Association.

F. A. Northrup went to Chicago last week to put himself under the care of physicians. He is reported much better already and will probably return in a few days.

Gabriel Warner, colored, received notice the first of the week that his old landlady had been allowed to sell him $700 or $800 back pay and $12 a month.

If the REGISTER has been better than usual the past two weeks it has been because the editor has been too busy with other things to give it much attention.

Parties having farms to sell for cash or to exchange for other property will please call on us at once as we have considerable inquiry for farms. Bostwick & Smeltzer.

Why is it that you instinctively hate a man who considers himself so good that he will not let you do your house any hour of the day or night without knocking?

The Ladies Band, of Humboldt, accompanied by friends to the number of twenty or thirty, came up on Friday night to attend the Union Spy—a neighborly courtesy that was highly appreciated.

The Almanac says that the shortest day comes before Christmas, but every man in town is willing to swear, (and prove it by his check book) that the day after Christmas is the "shortest" day for him.

The District Court convenes next Monday morning at nine o'clock in adjourned term. The jury will be in attendance and we believe that the time will be given exclusively to the trial of civil cases.

Look over your stationery and see whether you do not need a new lot to go into the New Year. If you do bring the order to the REGISTER office where you can get city prices at less than city prices.

Mrs. J. B. Goshorn is now ready for business in the room just east of Evans' drug store. She has had many years' experience as a milliner and solicits the patronage of the ladies of Iola and vicinity.

It is my custom always to balance my books the first of the year and I expect all those who are owing me to make prompt settlement. If you have not the cash come in and give me your note. D. Ewart.

Still in the lead—Richards & Welch, grocers—for the reason that they always treat customers courteously, keep on hand a fresh, clean stock, pay good prices for produce and sell as low as the market will permit.

Will A. White, of the Eldorado Republican, and V. L. Kellogg, Prof. Snow's assistant in the University, two among the brightest young men of Kansas, were in Iola the first of the week calling on friends.

Scott Young, who formerly got his mail at Humboldt and lately at Leanna, has now slipped out for California owing this office for seven years' subscription. Wonder if he really thinks that is a nice way to do?

At the meeting of the city council last Monday night the marshal and street commissioner were instructed to proceed at once to open the streets through Jones' addition, Mr. Pryor was authorized to purchase and put in place five more street lamps such as the one now in use at Evans' corner, and the usual bills were allowed.

An order has been received for the admission of Clarence Chaborn to the Tusane Asylum at Oswatimie and he will be taken there next Monday. It is hoped that with proper treatment he may soon recover his mind.

There is a girl in Iola who chews gum nearly all the time. The other day she happened to stop for a minute and a man who was looking at her said, "Why, how pretty she is!"—and he had seen her every day for months.

Have you noticed that new departure at Anderson & DeClute's? They have added blankets to their stock and are selling them at astounding prices. Two good gray blankets for 65 cents! Think of it. Go and see them.

Mrs. Lou Major and daughter, Paul, of Sedgewick City, Kansas, are visiting at H. E. Thomas'. They started from Sedgewick City a year ago and went to North Dakota thence to Indiana and are now on their way home.

John A. Christy will sell at public auction at his farm, six miles north of Iola at 10 o'clock on Wednesday, Jan. 7, 1891, horses, cows, steers and heifers, calves, hogs and farming implements. For terms and particulars see bills from this office. Hapes, auctioneer.

Mr. E. J. Kenney, a well-known lawyer of Oaage Mission who was in Iola last Saturday on business, fell from the train on his return home and was killed. He was a prominent and influential man in this part of the State and his death is much deplored.

Thayer & Gilmore are handling coal at the old stand, and solicit a share of your patronage. All persons knowing themselves indebted to them are urged to call and settle by cash or note, as it is absolutely necessary that their books should be closed by February 1, 1901.

C. C. Storer: Fred Funston, son of Congressman Funston, has gone to California, where he will join a party engaged in the geological survey. Freddie is a mild-mannered little fellow, who resembles his father about as much as a piccolo resembles a howitzer.

W. H. Root is now settled in his new shop, at the Coutant building and solicits the patronage of those needing the services of a first-class tinner. Spouting, roofing and sheet iron work done promptly and at reasonable rates. Satisfaction guaranteed.

We made brief mention last week that J. E. Hardin had been allowed a pension. The allowance came under the new law and is the first one to get through in this county we believe. Application was made through T. S. Stover just five months ago. That is pretty quick work.

Ottawa Republican: The Iola Republican has found a citizen who "has not read" that paper for two years, but who borrows it regularly in order to find fault with it. We couldn't say for sure but we think that specimen of noble character has been skulking around Ottawa after dark.

Louis Thayer has just returned from South Dakota where he has been employed on an engineering corps for the past nine months. It is his first visit home for more than two years and his friends are delighted to see him. He returns, after the holidays, to Lincoln, Neb., to resume his studies in the University.

Why was the custom of making and receiving New Year calls allowed to die out? It was a good old fashion that had good cheer and good wishes and good fellowship in it, and it ought to have been kept alive. It is too late for this year, but suppose that next year we revive it here in Iola, and try it again.

We wonder if there are any old-fashioned families left where the children cry out "Christmas Gift!" to the rest of the folks the first thing on Christmas morning? We know a man who, when he was a boy, used to get up about two o'clock every Christmas morning so he could yell "Christmas Gift!" ahead of all the rest.

The Topeka Weekly Capital from now until Jan. 1, 1902 and the REGISTER for one year for $2.00. The Weekly Capital will contain the most complete reports of the organization and proceedings of the coming Legislature that will be published, besides all the news of Kansas and the Capital city. No Kansan should be without it.

There has been a fight at last in the Indian country. On Monday the Seventh Cavalry attempted to disarm the Big Foot band. Instead of giving up their arms the Indians opened fire on the troops at close range. The result was that the band, something more than 200, were exterminated, men, women and children. Twenty-five soldiers were killed and about 35 wounded.

Have our advertisers taken note of the fact that, beginning with the next issue, the REGISTER will be sent to nearly every school in the county; and if so, have they reflected how much that adds to its value as an advertising medium? School children read every line in a newspaper, and what they read in school they talk about at home.

"Come fill up your glasses with red wine and white with a cheer for the New Year that comes in to-night."
Dr. J. B. Goshorn.
Then put down your glasses and look at the year that is dead.
With a sigh and a tear for the year that is dead.
Think! Think!

Mr. D. B. Hereford has severed his connection with his old house and engaged himself for the year 1901 to Barton Bros., of Kansas City. The change gives him Wyoming, Utah and Colorado as his territory and makes it necessary for him to remove his home to Denver, a change which his Iola friends greatly regret. Mr. H. starts today to begin work, but the family will probably remain here a month yet.

If there is one man in the employ of the State who has better earned his salary than another it is Prof. Snow, of the State University. On another page appears an interview with him that seems to leave no doubt that he has actually discovered a way to exterminate chinch bugs. Surely the farmers of Kansas ought to rise up and call him blessed, for this one discovery will be worth more to them than the Professor's salary for a lifetime, or than the total expense of the entire University for that matter.

It is the general opinion that the use of tobacco makes a man shabby and nervous. It is a man in Iola who never touched tobacco in his life who is so nervous that he can hardly sign his name, while his older brother who has smoked and chewed for forty years has as steady a hand as he had at twenty. It takes good nerves to shoot well with a rifle, but the best shot in town is a man who has drunk whiskey more or less and used tobacco habitually for years and years. It all seems to depend on the kind of a man he was to start on.

The churches of the city will hold union services each evening during the week of prayer, as follows: Sunday night, at Baptist church, conducted by Rev. Shaley. Monday night at Reformed church, conducted by Rev. Moore. Tuesday night, at Christian church, conducted by Rev. Robinson. Wednesday night, at M. E. church, conducted by Rev. Hyatt. Thursday night, at Presbyterian church, conducted by Rev. Sumner. Friday night, at Colored Baptist church, conducted by Revs. Moore, Hyatt and others.

Messrs. Pryor & Paulin are getting ready to put in a receiving tank that will add at least 50 per cent to the capacity of their gas works. The intention is to put in a small condensing tank at each well, and then construct a large central receiving tank wherein the gas can be stored when not being used. This receiving tank will be of the usual telescope pattern, circular in form with a diameter of about 22 feet and a height of about 25 feet when filled to its limit. It will be of iron and will cost about $1500. It can easily be seen that with such an enormous tank as this for a reserve, the pressure of the gas will be much more uniform and trustworthy.

The young man who took the part of the Spy in the play last week is thinking seriously of applying for a pension. He can certainly make a strong showing of "disabilities" incurred in the line of duty." He had to fall twice each night, and in one of his falls he wrenched his shoulder so that he couldn't put on a coat without assistance for two or three days. Another he gave his wrist a twist that it took a bottle of Wizard Oil to cure, while it cost him half his salary to buy sticking plaster to take the place of the cuticle abraded from various portions of his person. It was a tough campaign.

A daring, skillful and nearly successful attempt was made one night last week to rob the post-office. The burglars secured an entrance by forcing the back door open with a crowbar. They then bored through the massive front door of the safe and broke the lock so that the door opened. The thin steel door still remained and they had drilled a hole into the lock of this, filled it with powder, and inserted a fuse, when they were evidently frightened and ran away, leaving their job unfinished. They were probably scared by Marshal Harris making his nightly round. It is the marshals custom, the last thing every morning before he goes home, to walk all through the business part of town to see that everything is all right. Passing through the alley back of the post-office on this morning he thought the light in the stove was brighter than it should be. He cracked open the window to see. Discovering nothing wrong he went home. The burglars were probably in the office at the time and doubtless suspected that he had seen them and gone for help, so skedaddled without delay.

It would not have cost much if the job had been finished as there was only $25 in cash and about $200 in stamps in the safe. The heaviest loss is the safe itself which is made worthless for every purpose except as a protection against damage. The crackers were evidently old hands at the business as they left no possible clue by which they might be detected.

Mr. D. W. Gibbs, who was here last week as the guest of A. C. Scott, was before going to Oklahoma, a distinguished architect of Toledo, Ohio. He built the capitol of Wyoming, one of the finest in the west, and numerous other public buildings in the central and western states. He is necessarily therefore thoroughly posted in all the varieties of material ever used in the construction of fine buildings, and his opinion may be taken as that of an expert. It is very gratifying therefore to be able to report that he spoke in the highest terms of the quality of the marble in Iola, and that he was surprised at its beauty and texture, and declared that for filling stairs, wainscoting, bases, closets and other inside work it was superior to any marble in the world. It approaches more nearly to granite, he says, in beauty, strength and polish than any other marble in the United States, and would certainly make a market for itself if it could once be introduced. He looked forward to the time, and not far distant, when Iola would be surrounded by quarries and the town made wealthy by the mining and sale of this rare stone.

"Progress" makes rather a startling suggestion in the communication published over that name, and in this paper. The proposition to change the name of our town, blotting "Iola" off the map and substituting another name instead, will probably send something of a shock through most of us, much as would a proposition to change our own names to that of one of our friends. We think it hardly likely that even "Progress" himself is entirely serious in making the proposition, for there are business reasons against it that are practically insuperable. But there is no reason why we should not adopt at least part of the idea, and add the new name to the old. Nearly every great city has a nickname. And what is the matter with Iola, the Marble City? Let us pitch in and develop our quarries, advertise our marble, and take it to everybody we meet associate the idea of marble with the name of Iola. Let us do these things continually and persistently and it will not be long until everybody will know what place is meant when the Marble City is mentioned.

Parson Peterkin: A long time ago when I was a boy I met a man on the street whom I knew well, as I carry down town Christmas morning, and I cried out to him, "Christmas Gift, Mr.——!" I fully expected he would give me a quarter or a half-dollar or maybe a dollar. But he didn't. He only smiled and said "Thank-you, sonny, I sherry Christmas to you!" My heart dropped, nearly to my boots with disappointment, and I never said "Christmas gift!" to anybody after that. Well, last Christmas morning as I was walking up the street a bright-eyed urchin met me and yelled "Christmas gift, Mr. Peterkin!" And I responded, "Thank-you, sonny, Merry Christmas to you." And as I said the words it flashed over me all at once that they were the very words the man had said to me ever so many years ago. And I wondered if the boys heart sank like mine did. And I wished I had given him a quarter or a half-dollar, or maybe a dollar.

Miss Lola Smeltzer's Iola friends are most gratified to learn that her musical talent is receiving handsome recognition in Boston and in suburban places where she has been frequently invited to sing. A late issue of a Hyde Park paper makes the following pleasant mention: "Miss Lola Smeltzer, soloist, of the N. E. Conservatory gave several pleasing selections. * * * Miss Smeltzer's first selection was 'You,' a charming ballad, in which the great compass and power of the voice showed to good advantage. It was enthusiastically received by the audience. Her second selection, 'Disappointment,' was very bright and pleasing, bringing out particularly the brightness and flexibility of her voice."

See that Western washer at the co-operative store.
R. H. Ewart, of Sedalia, Mo., was here last week visiting his brothers.

THE OLD RELIABLE.
Among our most valuable exchanges for this year is the "Old Reliable" Kansas Farmer published at Topeka, Kansas. It was established twenty-eight years ago and has survived all the hardships incident to newspapers in the west, and is today not only the pioneer agricultural journal of the West, but compares favorably with the best farm journals of the United States in every way. It is devoted exclusively to every interest of the Western farmer, and every issue is well worth the small subscription price of one dollar per year. It is issued every week on toned book paper, nicely trimmed and pasted and contains from sixty-four to eighty columns of matter devoted to discussions of the farm, field, orchard, home circle and stock-raising. The Kansas Farmer is the recognized authority on Western agriculture and every farmer who desires to improve or prosper in his work, needs the paper.

His special departments are Live Stock, Hauling, Dairying, Horticulture, Poultry and Hives, Veterinary, Home Culture and Young Folks. The Market Reports are a feature being specially prepared, full reliable and accurate.

The Alliance Department will contain all official matter of the Alliance, Grange, and F. M. R. A., as well as important State and National news of the "Farmer's Movement." Send for sample copy of the Kansas Farmer, Topeka, Kansas.

We will furnish the Kansas Farmer and the REGISTER both papers one year for $2.30.

A Question Answered.
What is a Pullman tourist sleeper. It is a comfortable sleeping car without expensive upholstery, just suited to the purposes for which it was designed.

Mattresses, bedding and curtains; handy lunch tables; and necessary toilet articles all aboard. Everything is kept clean and tidy by a competent porter.

The Santa Fe Route uses Pullman tourist cars on its line to Pacific coast. A pretty little folder describing in detail the many advantages of traveling in tourist sleepers can be found by addressing G. T. Nicholson, G. P. & T. A., Topeka, Kansas.

HAPPY HOOBIES.
Wm. Timmons, postmaster of Idaville, Ind., writes: "Electric Bitters has done more for me than all other medicines combined, for that had feeling arising from kidney and liver trouble." John Leslie, farmer and stockman same place, says: "Find Electric Bitters to be the best kidney and liver medicine. Made me feel like a new man." J. W. Gardner, hardware merchant, same town, says: "Electric Bitters are just the thing for a man who is all run down and don't care whether he lives or dies; I found new strength, good appetite and felt just like I had a new lease on life. Only 50c a bottle at Evans' drug store."
